Uncover your calling with Calling Cards™

The Calling Cards™

Step 1: Your Natural Preferences

Examine the entire list of fifty-two callings. As you study them, arrange the callings in three groups according to your natural preferences.

Group #1: Those that fit your gifts.

Group #2: Not sure if they fit your gifts.

Group #3: Those that do not feel like your gifts at all.

Do not rush. Use your intuition. What does your hand turn to naturally? What calls to you? Continue to look through the first two groups to identify those callings that fit you best.

Ask yourself: What do I love to do? For each selection, think of an example of a time you expressed that gift.*

Step 2: Your Five Most Natural Preferences

Concentrate on the Group #1 callings. Explore them more carefully. Which ones seem to be the “best of the best?” Without thinking too much about it, identify the ones that seem to call to you automatically. Select the top five callings from this group—those that best describe what you naturally love doing.

Ask yourself again: What do I most love to do?*

Step 3: Your Single Most Natural Preference

Consider the five callings you have selected. Knowing yourself as you do, which one card seems to “call to you?” Which is the one that, today, feels most consistent with what you love to do? If you were forced to pick just one, which one would it be?

Ask yourself: Does this truly give me joy in the actual doing of it? What are some examples?*
